DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Originally built as a house, this two and one half story frame structure has been extensively added on to in the rear and is now used as administrative offices by the Dorchester County School Board. The front face faces east, although the Farmers & Merchants Bank stands in front of it now. The original part, to the east, is two and one half stories with a gable roof. On the front facade are three bays, and the center bay is a three story projecting pavilion with a gable above. Opposite this gable are two gabled dormers. There is a porch on the front or east facade supported by rectangular columns with carved ornamental brackets. On the south end of the original house is a two story bay window with tall narrow round arched windows. Between the first and second stories of this bay window is a heavy cornice with brackets. Around the upper edge of the bay window is another cornice, this one with dentils and modillions. In the gable above is a pointed arched window reflecting the Victorian Gothic influence. The rear addition, of frame construction, is also two and one half stories tall and in four bays long with two entrances on the south side. Both entrances have a small gabled portico in front. The windows in this wing and on the house are all round arched windows. The building is in need of paint.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Although once an attractive late 19th century house, this building has been considerably added on to, and the front facade is now blocked from view by the bank at the corner of Locust and High Streets. This building was at one time used as the local B.P.O. Elks home.
